Wanted Permit to Hold a Meeting in Rutgers Square, but It Was Refused-Capt. Murtha Attends a Meeting of the Bakers-Employers Name Committee,

A committee from the United Hebrew Trades, accompanied by Assemblyman Hartman of the Sixteenth Assembly district, went to Police Headquarters yesterday morning to ask a permit for a mass meeting of the striking Hebrew bakers in Rutgers Square. In the committee were Max Monnath of Local 163, Brooklyn; Samuel Kitz, leader of the bakers' strike; V. Weckstein. business agent of Local 167 of Newark, and J. J. Langenthal of Local 305 of Har-

Sergt. Charles O. Sheldon of the Bureau of Information has charge of such permits. The committee went to see him. Sheldon spoke to Chief Inspector Cortright, who told him to refuse the permit. Then the committee tried to see Commissioner McAdoo, who is away. Then they went to see Cortright. He has been more than thirty-five years on the police force.

You needn't come to me for sympathy," said Cortright, when he heard the committee. "You won't get it. And I'll tell you now that there must be law and order on the East Side during this strike. If there is a repetition of yesterday's performance I will have the police drop on you and drop hard, too."

"It isn't the strikers," said Assemblyman Hartman. "It's the thugs. They have firearms."

The police have no right to search persons on the street to see if they have weapons," said Inspector Cortright. "If you see a man with a revolver tell a policeman. He will arrest him."

"It's not the strikers who make the trouble," persisted the Assemblyman. "It's their sympathizers." "Oh, shucks!" exclaimed the inspector.

"I've heard that same cry for twenty-five years. There is nothing in it." Then Inspector Cortright told the committee that he proposed to see that order was maintained; he didn't care who caused the trouble. Under the present condition of affairs, he said, there would be no mass meeting in Rutgers Square. When he got through talking the committee gave it up and went away.

The police made a new move yesterday by sending Capt. Murtha of the Eldridge street station to a mass meeting in Great Central Hall, 90 Clinton street. He wanted to find out what the strike amounted to and if there was anything in the stories told by the strikers that the employers hired toughs and thugs to fight the strikers. told by the strikers that the employers hired toughs and thugs to fight the strikers.

Capt. Murtha was accompanied by Bern-ard Rubino of the legal aid department of the Hebrew Educational Alliance and Alfred A. Ditter, lawyer for the bakers' union. Both lawyers warned the strikers against

Capt. Murtha tried to get some informaion from Hyman Levinson, the chairman of the meeting, as to the status of the strike. He asked Levinson if any attempt had been made to arbitrate the troubles. Levinson said that the demands of the bakers had not been sent to the employers. They had been made public in the newspapers, he said, and he thought the bosses would send

There was less rioting than usual during the day and it was thought that the visit the day and it was thought that the visit of Capt. Murtha to the meeting would have a good effect. Everything was comparatively quiet until a man with a pushcart containing seventy leaves of bread covered with blankets came from Delancey street into Clinton street. Before the police could interfere a crowd of strikers surrounded it and threw the bread into the mud. The man fled and the loaves were John Leinz, general organizer of the Journeymen Bakers and Confectioners' International Union, arrived here yesterday to look into the situation. He had a con-ference last evening in a hall at Sixth street and the Bowery with the Greater New York executive board of the bakers' unions.

The prominent part Assemblyman Hartman is taking in the strike was not looked on favorably by the board. After the meeting strike leader Kurtz made the following

"The board decided on a general strike of the bakers, but permission would have first to be obtained from the international executive board. We have telegraphed to the international executive board, which is in Chicago, for instructions, and if it refuses its sanction I believe that strikes will be ordered in the German bakeries which deliver bread to the Hebrew districts."

B. Weckstein of the Newark Bakers said that the Newark bakers had an agreement with their employers and would not strike. In the lunchrooms throughout the Hebrew districts yesterday cake was served to customers instead of bread. There was plenty of Vienna bread and it had not advanced in price. plenty of Vienna bread and it had not advanced in price.

The Hebrew Boss Bakers' Association met all the afternoon and evening at 232 Grand street. After the meeting was over Jacob Bock, the chairman, said the boss bakers were willing to grant some of the demands, including higher wages, the ten hour workday and some of the holidays, but would not recognize the union or sign a contract. He complained of the police and said: of the police and said:

They said they were Charles Ross, William Shea and Henry McKay, all of 267 Hudson avenue. They were held on a charge of vagrancy. It is suspected that the prisoners are the tools of a former official in the army who was for ed to resign several months ago for alleged dishonesty and who has since them gatting contributions of all sorts from been getting contributions of all sorts from charitably disposed people.

REAL RAIDER IN BOER CAMP.

Got G. Mare's Checks. Cash, Jewelry and Commission Signed by Oom Paul. G. Mare, who is in the Boer War show at Brighton Beach, reported to the Sheepshead Bay police yesterday that somebody got into his tent, opened his trunk and stole checks for $380 on the Pittsfield, Ill., bank, $28 in cash and $160 in jewelry. The thief also took his commission as commandant in the Boer army, signed by the late President Kruger. LOST $10,000 AT PINOCLE.

Thinks He Was Chested Out of at Less Part of It-No Evidence, Says Magistrate. Samuel Liebermann, a jeweler of 25 East 110th street, was arraigned before Magistrate Steinert in the Harlem court terday on the charge of having fleeced Maurice Jasnogrodsky, 60 years old, of 101 West 114th street, out of $300 in a game of pinocle which they played in a cafe at 17th street and Madison avenue.

Jasnogrodsky says that he is an expert pinocle player. He told the Magistrate that he had been playing in the café for the last six weeks, principally with Liebermann, and in that time he lost $10,000.

He played three games with Liebermann for $100 a side yesterday, and he lost them all. He realized then that something was all. He realized then that something was wrong, he says, and he accused Liebermann of cheating. There was a row and Jasnogrodsky was thrown out of the cafe. Then he went to the East 126th street station and related his tale of wo. Liebermann was arrested. Three $100 bills were found in his pocket, but Magistrate Steinert said that there was no evidence of wrong-doing and discharged him.

Jasnogrodsky said that the proprietor of the cafe and his wife had held the stakes.

"Then it looks as if the place is a gambling house," said the Magistrate.

"That's what it is," said Jacnogrodsky.

"Then you are a gambler yourself," said Liebermann's counsel.

of a Family Quarrel. CHICAGO, Aug. 10.-Policeman Oscar Benson, of the West Lake police station, shot and killed his brother-in-law, Matt Mamer, brother of Chris Mamer, and then committed suicide this afternoon. Chris Mamer is clerk of the Illinois Supreme Court and one of the best known politicians of the city.

The shooting occurred in Matthew Mamer's jewelery store and was the result of a family quarrel. Benson's wife is a sister of Mamer. Only two shots were fired. The first struck Mamer in the head and killed him. Benson then fired one bullet into his own head and died immediately.

Shed Nearly Completed to Serve as Temporary Station in Hoboken.

The Lacks wanns Railroad continued to do business at its "open air station" in Hoboken yesterday with seven tracks and two ferry slips. A large force of carpenters started work in the morning constructing a temporary shed 150 by 28 feet on the north side of the old depot. They did not complete it by nightfall, but they espect to finish it to-day. The structure will serve as a waiting room, restaurant and offices. It was said at the ferry last night that two additional slips will be in operation

The Hoboken city officials and the officers of the Lackawanna Railroad Company are at loggerheads over building operations, re-sulting from the fire, on what Mayor Lansulting from the fire, on what Mayor Izin-kering and the Common Councilmen claim is city property. The disputed ground is situated east of the old fence which separates Ferry street at Hudson street from the rail-road tracks. The city officials consider that it is a part of Ferry street, and the property is in litigation to determine ownership. Corporation Attorney James F. Min-turn notified the railroad company yesterday afternoon that any buildings erected on the land must be considered in the light of a public nuisance.

THE CHINESE MUTINEERS.

It's Agreed That the Local Authorities Have Jurisdiction. The seven Chinese tars-mutineers from the British tramp Dordogne-must be tried in General Sessions for assaulting the second engineer, Magistrate Breen decided in the Tombs police court yesterday. The Magistrate gidn't make up his mind what action to take until he had had a confab with numerous representatives of the Federal Government

The seven Chinamen were very much The seven Chinamen were very much impressed when they saw Marshal Billy Henkel with several deputies march into the court room. Then came Assistant United States District Attorney Bacon, reinforced by Charles Fox, representing the British Government and a couple of Depart-

British Government and a couple of Department of Labor representatives. Marehal Henkel was armed with a warrant issued by Commissioner Shields and was prepared to take the oftending Chinamen into custody in the event of Magistrate Breen deciding that the State Government had no jurisdiction.

Mr. Bacon assured Magistrate Breen that he had jurisdiction. He cited a case in which it had been decided that an offense committed on a Belgian vessel in the harbor was a subject for local jurisdiction. Magistrate Breen then held the defendants for trial in $1,000 bail each.

Capt. Grey of the Dordogne wasn't pleased a bit. He wanted the Chinamen put in irons on his ship.
